QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

- Q1: Is there any meetings required at project location other than pre-commencement meeting referred in Part D, Item D2.3?
- A1 No, no other meetings are required at the project location. Further communication with the Public Service and professional services firms previously engaged by the City to complete the scope of services may be completed remotely. As well, we can accommodate the pre-commencement meeting remotely via video conference.
- Q2: Does the scope of service require to meet with currently engaged cost consultant to seek clarification about their estimates or back up files?
- A2 There is no obligation for the successful proponent to meet or engage with other professional services firms the City has engaged in relation to this project. Reference to the work undertaken to complete the preliminary design report and the separate cost estimate is provided as information to proponents to aid in their understanding of the project work completed to date. Meeting with these other professional services firms and reference to their work is at the discretion of the proponent.
