

Fort Garry Library parking lot

The image is an aerial photograph of an urban area in Fort Garry, Saskatchewan. A large, irregular red-shaded region covers a significant portion of the center and right side of the image, indicating a closed area. Within this red region, there are two blue-shaded rectangular areas. One blue rectangle is located in the upper-left part of the red zone, and the other is on the right side, pointing towards a large parking lot. Red lines connect the text labels to these specific areas. The surrounding area shows residential streets, buildings, and other parking lots.
